II. REPORTS

A. Baseball Pilot Program

Assistant Commissioner Robert Faulkens discussed a new project that he is looking to implement with the help of the Indiana High School Baseball Coaches Association (IHSBCA) that will pair coaches of two different schools to help build and sustain baseball programs.

Two coaches would work together in the designing player and program development language. Coaches would have coach clinics and player clinics in implementing a model. During the Fall and Winter Limited Contact Period, the two coaches would share resources, facilities, and strategies in developing players and programs.

The goal of this project is an attempt to bridge the ever-widening gap between those communities with viable baseball opportunities, and those without. Coaches will teach and learn from each other. Players will do the same in the combined activities settings.

This program will be brought to the Executive Committee for approval at the October meeting.
